

Business Process Idol - accept the challenge!

pitching to execs: test your ideas in front of an informed audience

Only at ProcessDays 2010, a competition for teams or individuals to present the compelling case for process-centric management to the Executive Committee. Tell the story the way you think it should be told. Your fellow delegates will be your audience and your judge!

Presentations strictly limited to 10 minutes. PowerPoint is not compulsory, but if you use it then max three slides. Judging is by audience response. For the winner – invaluable bragging rights! A record of all entries will be published after ProcessDays.

Participation Guidelines
Anyone can enter as an individual or a team. Need some support? Then form a team. If you can't be in the room for the Conference then you can participate online – from anywhere on the planet!

Registration is required. Email now to Harriet Hall at h.hall@leonardo.com.au and tell her that you accept the challenge!
